

can't move back or forward. can be over turn any time.

winch it off?

now stuck in another way again. winch can't even move it.

owner has to make a decision: stuck there or move forward.

owner stepped on froze pond and think it very thick and strong. so he want to lower down the jeep and drive to other side of pond.

the ice can't take the weight of jeep. now it stuck in the pond.

« Last Edit: Sep 14th, 2005, 9:41pm by boondock »

Logged

98 prado 3400 a/t
01 colt d/c 3000 a/t

boondock
YaBB Junior Member

Re: how to do recovery in this case?
« Reply #1 on: Sep 14th, 2005, 9:35pm »

Quote

Modify

Posts: 52

use 3 winchs to pull the stuck jeep up but still can't make a move after many times attampt. owner decided to pull it OVER the pond.

now the ultimate icebreaker jeep is on the move the resistance is huge in the froze ice pond. so the movement is extremly slow. what a long trip...

people trying to help..,

only 5m to the shore. the jeep's bull-bar broken off from winch pulling.

have to wait until next morning for more help. but the problem is ehe jeep froze in the pond already.

froze jeep with fully loaded ice blocks.

eventually the saver is coming...

bull-bar torn off.

ice blocks

lots panel works

50kgs ice

more ice

damage is done.

hehe....

Logged

98 prado 3400 a/t
01 colt d/c 3000 a/t

BryanW

YaBB Hero

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #2 on: Sep 14th, 2005, 9:47pm »

Quote

Modify

Wonder what bullbar that is? Doesnt look like an ARB.

Logged

2004 Toyota Hilux D/C 2.7i 4x4
40mm lift
31" D673 Muddies

Gender:

Posts: 658

JannieBos

YaBB Senior Member

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #3 on: Sep 14th, 2005, 10:28pm »

Quote

Modify

WOW this is why I like 4x4 ing

Would have gone there in the first place

Posts: 426

Photo three. Time to call home ... I'll be slightly late

I had to do that one before.

Very high stress levels, my nice Jeepie is going for a swim

Aaaaa NO

JannieBos

Logged

Johannes

YaBB Junior Member

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #4 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 8:07am »

Quote

Modify

Wife: "You thought you will do what?"

Logged

Gender:
Posts: 69

FJ62

4ePajero

YaBB Hero

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #5 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 8:31am »

Quote

Modify

At least the beer was cold!

Logged

Gender:
Posts: 1110

Not to mislead others further, this liar will be off-air until further notice.
"NIL ILLIGITIMO DESPERANDO CARBERUNDUM."
The Engineers motto...
"Dont let the B'stards grind you down"

PeetK

YaBB Hero

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #6 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 8:40am »

Quote

Modify

If they had a Hi-Lift Jack they could have jacked it up and place rocks under the wheels.

Logged

Gender:
Posts: 836

Land Cruiser 79 4.5 EFI D/C
Brits, North West, South Africa

4ePajero

YaBB Hero

Re: big recovery mistake

« Reply #7 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 8:49am »

Quote

Modify

To me this looks like a typical case where someone had the cash to buy all the "look strong" goodies, but had no idea about even the basics of off-road driving.

That Jeep did not even need recovery, as far as I am concerned. (Not initially, in any case). It was not stuck, so it could have been driven out, even if it was back whence it came. Or 2mins of spade-work and she was OK?

Eish!

Logged

Gender:
Posts: 1110

Not to mislead others further, this liar will be off-air until further notice.
"NIL ILLIGITIMO DESPERANDO CARBERUNDUM."
The Engineers motto...
"Dont let the B'stards grind you down"

iHilux

Re: big recovery mistake

http://4xforum.co.za/cgi-bin/YaBB/YaBB.pl?board=TechQuestions;action=display;num=1126725233

2/11/2005

YaBB Hero

« Reply #8 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 8:58am »

Quote

Modify

Wonder if he is covered by his insurance?

Logged

Hilux 98 Limited Edition 4x4 2.8D Double Cab. OME, long range tank, rear locker, ARB type bullbar, T/B, R/B & side steps. KEW 8000 winch. 31-10.5-15 inch tyres, alloy mags. A/C & P/S.

Gender:

Posts: 739

George

YaBB Hero

« Reply #9 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 10:17am »

Quote

Modify

4ePajero, I agree fully. All this damage was most probably caused by an incapable driver, not to say much more about his friends who tried winching single line and then probably said they can't move the vehicle. As mentioned, why not use jacks etc to manipulate the vehicle for easier winching. <sigh>

Lesson learnt : All the nice, mean looking accessories doesn't automatically imply you know how to use them optimally. Also logical thinking takes you a long way.

Sad enough, there's a lot of these type people in SA also...

Logged

1996 Land Rover Discovery V8
1995 Land Rover Defender 110 V8

Gender:

Posts: 925

GAS

YaBB Newbie

« Reply #10 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 12:48pm »

Quote

Modify

Makes one nervous about going out with the Jeep club.....

Logged

Posts: 9

StefanDV

YaBB Newbie

« Reply #11 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 1:14pm »

Quote

Modify

on Sep 15th, 2005, 12:48pm, GAS wrote:

Makes one nervous about going out with the Jeep club.....

Sorry boet, but I won't be able to make the next club expedition, die volkspele uitdunne vind plaas.

Logged

Gender:

Posts: 38

Bradley

YaBB Junior Member

« Reply #12 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 2:00pm »

Quote

Modify

Shame, poor guy.

Talk about going from bad to worse!!

Logged

'99 Hilux Raider 2.7 4x4 D/C
Port Elizabeth

Gender:

Posts: 99

Zanthus

YaBB Hero

« Reply #13 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 2:36pm »

Quote

Modify

http://4xforum.co.za/cgi-bin/YaBB/YaBB.pl?board=TechQuestions;action=display;num=1126725233

2/11/2005

Brad, this makes the hour we spent digging in the dunes to turn over the Frontier look like nothing.

Logged

'95 4.5 GX CRUISER- 33"MTR,OME & Twin ARB Lockers

'84 Suzuki SJ410

'96 Isuzu 280DT 4x4 D/cab Frontier- 30"STT

<http://community.webshots.com/user/bartodekoning2> - Updated:15 May

Gender:

Posts: 872

Teppic

YaBB Junior Member

Re: big recovery mistake

Quote

Modify

« Reply #14 on: Sep 15th, 2005, 4:28pm »

on Sep 15th, 2005, 8:49am, 4ePajero wrote:

Or 2mins of spade-work and she was OK?

Eish!

Spade work? He could have ruined his nice suit!

Posts: 85

Logged

Pages: 1 2

Reply

Notify of replies

Send Topic

Print